

Dr. Shoba Narayan

Shoba was born in Bangalore, India and moved to the United States at the age of eight. She has been living in Los Angeles since then and is a complete Bruin—having attended UCLA for her undergraduate study, medical school, and pediatric residency. Her undergraduate degree is Bachelor of Science in Microbiology and Molecular Genetics. She holds a California Medical License and was board certified by the American Board of Pediatrics in 2007. She is completing a fellowship in Pediatric Nephrology at UCLA. Her research interest is in transplant immunology. Her outside interest includes Laker basketball, hiking, cooking and social service. She recently got married in August 2009. She hopes to contribute to both local and international service organizations in pediatric nephrology.